

15th Annual International Conference on Stigma

Call For Art and Creative Works

The HU Stigma Project invites Black women creators to submit creative works for a special category of the longstanding art contest connected to the HU International Conference on Stigma. The special “Empower Category” is for Black women creators to submit paintings, drawings, photography, written works, videos or any art medium about topics related to AIDS, HIV or the stigma related to them.

All submissions will be highlighted on the conference’s website, and special prizes will be provided to category winners.

It’s time to show your creativity, share your perspective and help empower others through your art.

Scan below to submit by October 15, 2024.
